DEMOLITION QUICK UPDATE

The previous week saw the local sub-cont markets start to flourish. Confidence was coming back and steel prices began to rise again. In India, there were speculations that the market will stabilise as the rupee and local steel prices saw some improvements. Bangladesh remained at the top offering the highest prices, but space is running out due to the plethora of recent beachings. To end, Pakistan remained barren as sentiments were low; the rupee still faces volatility and governmental legislations unfavourably affecting the local recycling market.
